

Nadolig Llawen!

Which is Welsh for Merry Christmas!

We trust that each of you are having fun preparing for the Christmas holiday. It's hard to believe that it is just around the corner. Though our family has yet to dig through the attic for the Christmas decorations, Krys and Cora have both been practicing their Christmas piano pieces, so the McPeters home is very much alive with the Christmas spirit! Both of them are also in our children's program at church this year, one as an angel and one as an animal. They are both excited. Adelyn has been practicing up on her "Hark the Hairy Angles Sing" as she calls it! We do truly love this time of year. It's hard to imagine how so many in the world today do not fully grasp the spiritual significance of this holiday and what true joy it really does bring. I pray that we all take advantage of every opportunity to spread the real Christmas cheer to our family and friends!

This year our family will enjoy the Welsh Christmas tradition of making taffy! Looking forward to a tasty Welsh treat!

Watching God Work

I could not sit here and request prayer for our upcoming meetings without taking the time to share with you what the Lord has personally confirmed to me through the scheduling of them. Just two months ago when our family set out to move to Indiana this January, we had only two churches booked in 2011. When Michelle and I both looked at our nearly-empty calendar, we realized the uphill climb in filling in those dates, and immediately gave our empty calendar to the Lord. Guess What? He has begun filling it, and at an alarming rate! I can honestly say that these past two months have been amazing, as I watched God fill our calendar quicker than I ever could. What is even more amazing is that just a few of those listed are from actual calls I've made in the last few weeks. Several were initiated for us through friends and family, and others from churches contacted months prior. What has God confirmed to me through all of this? That He is truly watching out for the McPeters crew. Yes, I knew that already, but as a husband and a dad, it's comforting when God reaches down and just says, "It's okay. I've got this."

Please keep praying!

For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved. - John 3:17

- Please continue to pray for those Christians already in the country of Wales, that they will have ample opportunity to share the good news of Christ with the Welsh this Christmas!
- Please pray for our family that we continue to rely on the Lord through this season of change that we are facing in the upcoming weeks ahead.
- Please pray that the Lord will continue to use our family to be a blessing to the many new friends and prayer partners we're making on this journey!
